Reds Split At Cuba Meet

HAVANA (Reuters) — Hard-line revolutionaries and traditional Communists clashed Friday over the issue of how to spread revolution in Latin America, according to delegates attending the Latin American solidarity conference in this Cuban capital.

The differences were aired behind closed doors Friday by four committees.

Jose Anselmo dos Santos of the Brazilian revolutionary independence movement said in an interview there was a clear majority of delegates who feel that conditions throughout Latin America are ripe for guerrilla warfare.

However, other representatives, particularly those from Chile and Costa Rica, maintained an "ambiguous position," dos Santos said.

The Brazilian delegate, who was officially reported dead in Brazil a year ago, said the "traditional Communists" want to wait longer for conditions to ripen.

Outside observers here believed the delegates apparently agreed, not to get bogged down in arguments over a Soviet policy of keeping trade relations with Latin American "dictatorships." Such bickering could seriously split the Communist movement in Latin America.

Machine-Gun Mom Hunted

MONTREAL (CP) — A tiny mother of two, who police say can operate a machine-gun "like a commando" is the most sought-after bank robber in Quebec province.

Already wanted on warrants by provincial police and police in suburban Montreal North, the 27-year-old firebrand, dubbed by detectives as Machine-Gun Molly, struck again Friday.

This time it was a caisse populaire in the city's east-end where the housewife-turned-helicopter and two hooded men escaped with $9,000.

Police say the woman, equipped with icy nerves and an abundance of good luck, is estimated to have participated in at least 20 bank robberies in the last 12 months, both in the Montreal region and in Quebec City.

Two weeks ago a luxury car she was driving smashed into a pole during a police chase on the Trans-Canada highway in Montreal. A carload of accomplices following her plucked her from the wreckage and sped off.

Standing just over five feet and weighing about 100 pounds, she turned in the skillful for the machine-gun shortly after her husband was sent to prison for armed robbery, police say.

Detectives said another fringe benefit of having her along is that she often drives the second car used in robberies—with her two young children aboard.

Maoists Now Control Key City of Wuhan

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Bitter fighting in the Chinese power struggle today appears to have spread along the Yangtze River, although supporters of Communist Chairman Mao Tse-tung were reported back in control of Wuhan.

The key industrial city of Wuhan on the lower Yangtze in central China was reported to have been the scene last month of serious fighting between anti-Mao elements in the army and Maoists.

Reports reaching here from various sources in the last 24 hours say the wartime Nationalist capital of Chungking, up the Yangtze from Wuhan, and Shanghai at the mouth of the river were the new storm centres.

Paratroops were dropped and gunboats stationed in the Yangtze in support of Maoists during the fighting in Wuhan.

Radio Canton said today Maoists won back control of administrative offices in Wuhan from the "agents of the Khrushchev of China (head of state Liu Shao-chi)."

The radio said Friday a number of Wuhan's "reactionary organizations" were dissolved.

The influence of proletarian revolutionaries was mounting while that of the reactionaries was disintegrating, it said.

According to the Czechoslovak news agency Ceteka, anti-Maoists went into action in Chungking with weapons shipped 750 miles upriver from Wuhan.

The Chungking fighting has been going on for many days, it added.

In Shanghai, hoodlums were roaming the streets beating up Red Guards and looting state property, Ceteka said.

The agency also reported fighting in Hwainan, a town in Anhwei province, immediately south of Shanghai province.

In Peking, the New China News Agency quoted Foreign Minister Chen Yi as telling a visiting Mali delegation that the cultural revolution situation was excellent.

Chinese Embassy Staff Repel Attack By Indonesian Youths

JAKARTA (CP) — Communist Chinese diplomats today opened fire on a howling Indonesian mob which stormed their embassy here, wounding three youths and an army corporal.

Indonesia troops armed with sub-machine-guns rushed in, firing warning shots into the air, after some 300 youths wrenched open the embassy's high iron gate with crowbars and poured into the compound to loot the building.

The demonstrators were joined by other youths who scrambled over the red painted embassy walls, while another group set fire to the adjoining building.

They panicked after the embattled diplomats fired a volley from the embassy building, and were dragged out struggling by the troops who surrounded the building backed by three armored cars.

ROADS leading to the embassy in Jakarta's business centre were blocked and Chinese shops closed because their owners feared an anti-Chinese riot.

Troops were seen on guard inside and outside the embassy building.

The demonstration followed a statement issued by the Pantjasila Youth Front, affiliated to the army-backed Party for Upholding Indonesian Independence, calling on the government to sever relations with mainland China.

LODGED STRONG PROTEST The official Antara news agency said the Chinese charge d'affaires, Lu Tsu To immediately lodged a strong protest over the incident, but this was rejected by the Indonesian foreign ministry.

Forest Fire Stirs Panic

CAPRI, Italy (AP)—A raging brush fire whipped by sea breezes raced out of control over miles of this romantic island today, causing panic among tourists and threatening hotels and villages.

Capri authorities appealed to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization installation at Naples, on the mainland 18 miles away, to send men and equipment to help fight the flames.

Frightened tourists abandoned the beaches to be ready to leave the island if the fire got worse.

Hundreds of tourists helped (women and local residents fight the flames, which leaped control ditches.

U.S. Jets Keep Pounding Ho Chi Minh Trail Target

SAIGON (AP) — Communist gunners fired on the U.S. Navy base at Nha Be south of Saigon from North Vietnam, again today as U.S. B-52s kept hammering at enemy supplies in the A Shau Valley, a point campaign called today for negotiations with Hanoi and a private conference with the Viet Cong to end the war.

Peace Negotiations With Reds Sought By Saigon White Doves

SAIGON (AP) — The White Dove party candidates in South Vietnam's presidential election campaign called today for negotiations with Hanoi and a private conference with the Viet Cong to end the war.

Lawyer Truong Dinh Dau, 50, heads the ticket. Running with him for vice president is Tran Van Chieu, 48, a businessman. One of 11 teams campaigning for the election Sept. 3, they are considered to have little chance of winning.

In advocating a private conference with the Viet Cong, Dau ruled out formal negotiations with either the guerrillas or their political agency, the National Liberation Front.

He said the negotiations could never result in a coalition government with the Viet Cong "because according to our constitution it is forbidden."

Candidates of one of the other tickets—former chief of state

Phan Khac Suu and Dr. Phan Quang Dan—have come out for negotiations with the Communists "at all levels, including the National Liberation Front."

This put them in direct opposition to the stand taken by the military ticket considered to be the best bet—Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. Thieu and Ky oppose any talks with the Viet Cong leaders.

The White Dove candidates outlined their views at their first press conference since the formal opening of the campaign Thursday.

Dau said if he is elected his government "will open secret talks with Hanoi" and then consult with the United States and the other allies before starting actual negotiations.

"We will propose to Hanoi that we will stop military activities if they stop infiltration into the South," he said.

Hong Kong Incident Ended Peacefully

HONG KONG (CP) — Thirty Chinese crossed the Hong Kong border from China today, attacked two border guards and a British Gurkha soldier, and seized their weapons, including a machine-gun.

Later, after a two-hour conference at Man Kam To with Hong Kong authorities, they gave back the weapons, shook hands with a British official, and reentered the border.

A government spokesman said nearby border police and British troops were ordered by their commanders not to open fire on the attackers in order to avoid a serious incident.

Chinese soldiers in position on the other side of the border, did not intervene, the spokesman said.

The leader of the attacking group told police and military commanders they made it because posters which they had put up the day before on the British side had been torn down.

Hong Kong officials said the group was notified when told that they could put up posters praising and quoting Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung—but not inflammatory posters inciting violence against the British in Hong Kong.

Man Kam To is the crossing point for food supplies sent by road from China. It is about two miles east of the railroad bridge at Lo Wu, scene of three border-crossing incidents two days ago.

Truck Somersaults On Freeway Killing Five YMCA Members

FREMONT, Calif. (AP) — A flatbed truck carrying a YMCA youngsters' club home from a day at a beach somersaulted out of control Friday on a freeway, killing five and injuring 65 others.

Larry Fink, a California Highway Patrol officer who saw the accident, said: "I didn't realize how bad it was until I got up to the cab of the truck and all I saw was a mound of bodies."

Fink radioed for "all the ambulances you've got" and then with others broke out first-aid kits and started loading youngsters into passing cars that took them to hospitals.

The patrolman said the north-bound truck veered to the right and then to the left onto a 40-foot wide strip that divides the four-lane freeway. As the truck hit the centre strip it somersaulted, finally landing on its side.

Birth Control, Breath Tests Among Topics For Parliament

OTTAWA (CP) — Everything from birth control to breath analysis tests will be under examination this fall as Parliament takes the closest look in years at the Criminal Code.

The government's omnibus bill amending dozens of sections is not expected to be ready when Parliament resumes Sept. 25, but officials say it likely will be unveiled before Christmas.

It probably will propose even greater revisions of the code than in 1960, when some 46 sections were amended.

Items almost certain to be in the bill include repeal of the ban on dissemination of birth control information and devices, changes in the abortion laws and breath tests for drivers suspected of drinking.

EXPECT FREE VOTE A free vote on abolition of capital punishment—either permanently or temporarily—also is expected but this may be handled separately from the omnibus bill.

There also have been reports that corporal punishment would be outlawed, but signs now are that this may be dealt with as part of a general penal reform bill rather than in the omnibus bill.

Other areas that probably will be covered in the Criminal Code amendments include bail and probation reform and firearms control.

There has been pressure from probation officers for removal of various restrictions on the courts limiting those who can get the benefits of probation. Criticism has also come from many sides of the bail system.

QUEBEC QUESTION

Johnson Asked To State Whether He's Separatist

MONTREAL (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec "should state once and for all that he is a separatist and call an election immediately on this issue," Eric Kierans, president of the Quebec Liberal Federation, said Friday.

Mr. Kierans also told a press conference that last week's visit to Canada by President de Gaulle of France was "a good thing" for English-speaking Canadians.

Hisself English-speaking but with a fluent command of French, the Liberal official said of the controversial visit:

"It will jolt us... and make us think."

He said the slogan "Vive le Quebec libre," used by Gen. de Gaulle, in a July 24 speech at Montreal, has "very deep roots" in Canadian and Quebec politics and the general was not aware of the "nuances" involved in the phrase.

"People must keep their nerve about everything else," The visit would bring home to English-speaking Canadians that "French is not a foreign language in Canada."

Those outside the French-Canadian community who dismissed Quebec intentions with such remarks as, "They know which side their bread is buttered on," are themselves "English separatists," said Mr. Kierans.

Gen. de Gaulle had been "overwhelmed" by big growth of Quebec society and Quebecers were themselves overwhelmed by the recognition of this growth given by the French chief of state.

This accounted for the excitement generated by the general's visit, which Mr. Kierans termed "a love affair—a very legitimate affair."

The federation chief said events surrounding the visit have left the separatist Rassemblement pour l'indépendance nationale in a stronger position.

Mr. Johnson had made Quebecers uncertain of his plans and raised doubts in the minds of investors.

"We are facing a very serious recession," said Mr. Kierans, who spoke mostly in French.

"After careful study and analysis of what happened during the past week I have come to the conclusion that Mr. Johnson must come out and declare that he is a separatist."

The Quebec people, and not the governing Union Nationale party, had the job of deciding whether the province should separate from Canada. Hence the need for an election.

Mr. Kierans said the provincial Liberals are a "strongly Liberal Leader Jean Lesage was no separatist."

Limits On Crime Reporting Abhorred By News Media

HONOLULU (AP) — News media representatives opened fire today on recommendations by an American Bar Association study group that would limit reporting of crime news.

"The classic function of the press is to find out everything it can about government, about law enforcement," said J. Edward Murray of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

"That's what the free flow of news means, what the reporter can find out, not what the public servant wants to give him on a platter."

Murray, managing editor of the Arizona Republic, is chairman of the society's freedom of information and press-bar committee.

AGAINST PROPOSALS He spoke out against the proposals in remarks prepared for a day-long hearing sponsored by the ABA's section of judicial administration.

"To begin, you will poison the stream of crime and police news by deliberately manipulating that news at its source," Murray said.

"We won't even let the president manage the news of his own political image without a hue and cry of press criticism. How can we think of giving the right to manage crime news to every town constable and marshal?"

The ABA recommendations are the result of a 20-month study by 10 prominent judges and lawyers on the constitutional guarantees of free press and fair trial.

Unveiled last October by the committee headed by Justice Paul C. Reardon of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, they stirred immediate controversy within the law and journalism professions.

In the main, the Reardon report calls on lawyers and police to restrict their comments on pending criminal cases and to reduce the release of information about them. The stated objective is to help assure fair trials for criminal defendants.

However, Murray told the ABA group: "We of the media contend that, if you adopt the Reardon sanctions, you will cripple the press as a watchdog of law enforcement, as the traditional enemy of secret arrest and the traditional friend of fair trial."

The press, he said, "has often aided justice, sometimes through independent investigation paralleling that of the police, sometimes by discovering that the wrong defendant is in custody, or that a defendant is being mistreated, sometimes by finding political chicanery in the prosecutor's office, sometimes by turning up overlooked witnesses."

Dr. Tennant Bryan, chairman of the Fair Trial - Free Press Committee of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, said in prepared remarks:

"A free press is the foundation of all our freedoms. Any erosion of this foundation must be of the gravest concern, not to the press alone, but to all citizens now and for generations to come."

Look out Kelowna, here comes Snoopy and the Red Baron.

Well, would you believe it, Lt. George Greff and a 1913 biplane?

This will be just one part of a 40-minute program by the Golden Centennaires at 8 p.m. Thursday during the Regatta. Lt. Greff flies an Avro 504K, a military trainer designed and built in Britain in 1913. In 1919, Canada received 62 of the aircraft.

Today, there are only two 504Ks flying, both of them in the Centennaire show.

The aircraft have their original engines, in which the fire-wall is locked to the engine. The engine is a rotary type, and is locked to the propeller. The engine and the propeller then rotate around the crankshaft.

FAR CRY

The 504K has a maximum air speed of 85 mph, a far cry from the CF-104 Super Starfighter, with a maximum of twice the speed of sound, or even the CF-104 Tutor, the Canadian Armed Forces' new jet elementary trainer, with a top speed of 488 mph.

In addition to these aircraft, the all-weather, fighter interceptor CF-101B Voodoo will participate in the show Thursday.

Both the CF-104 and the CF-101B will fly here from Abbotsford because the runway at the Kelowna airport is too short.

The 504K is 10 feet, five inches high; 29 feet, five inches long; has a wing span of 36 feet; weighs 1230 pounds; a range of 250 miles; an endurance of three hours; and a ceiling of 15,000 feet.

SEVERAL RECORDS

The CF-104 is Canada's contribution to the NATO air forces of Western Europe. This aircraft set a speed record of 1,404.09 mph and an altitude record of 91,243 feet, both in May 1958. It has also set seven time-to-altitude records.

The CF-104 is 54 feet, nine inches long; has a wingspan of 21 feet 11 inches; is 13 feet, six inches high; and is powered by an Orenda-built J-79 turbo-jet developing 10,000 pounds of static thrust without the afterburner, and 15,800 pounds of static thrust with the afterburner.

static thrust with the afterburner.

The CF-101B is a twin-jet, two-seat aircraft. It is 67 feet, five inches long; has a wing span of 40 feet; is 18 feet high; weighs a maximum of 51,950 pounds; a maximum speed of 1,200 mph; and is powered by two Pratt and Whitney J-57 turbo-jets, each developing 10,700 pounds of thrust without afterburner, and 16,900 pounds of thrust with the afterburners.

MOST OF SHOW

The Tutor will occupy most of the air show here. The eight aircraft will perform for about 20 minutes. Although the Tutor's side-by-side seating arrangement is excellent for teaching, the pilot must sit in the left cockpit to reach some emergency systems.

This means formation aerobatics can be flown safely only on one side of the leader because visibility is limited in moving from left to right.

The Tutor is 32 feet long; has a wingspan of 36 feet, six inches; is nine feet, three inches high; weighs a maximum of 7,393 pounds; and is powered by a General Electric J85 CAN-40 turbo-jet developing 2,850 pounds of thrust at take-off.

OLD FRIEND

While the Centennaire team is in Kelowna, they will be able to renew friendships with retired Wing Cmdr. Jack Allen, former commanding officer of the Golden Hawks. The Hawks last performed here in 1963. The Centennaires will be the first team in Kelowna since then.

Mr. Allen has been lending an official hand in preparations for the Centennaires visit here. The team will fly into Kelowna from V. Deer early Tuesday afternoon. At Red Deer they take part in the Alberta International Air Show.

Early Thursday afternoon they fly to Vernon and give a brief show over the cadet camp. After the Centennaires arrive here they will attend a reception at the city hall at about 4 p.m.

Kelowna is the 50th show in a series of 100 performances this year by the team. From Kelowna they go to Abbotsford.

Camping, Fishing Suspended Unless Official Permit Held

Regular weekend campers are advised to stay out of the woods this weekend.

Campfire permits have been suspended throughout the southern interior, in the Nelson and Vancouver forest districts and in the Kamloops district, of which Kelowna is a part.

The suspension took effect Friday and last until further notice.

The B.C. Forest Service said the fire hazard in the southern portion of the province is extreme and expected to get worse.

The ban prohibits campfires except in private and provincial campsites and other supervised areas.

The ban was introduced under provisions of the Forest Act, which means no one shall enter or be in the closed areas for travelling, camping, fishing, hunting, recreation, berry-picking, prospecting or any other purpose without first obtaining a written permit from a Forest Service officer. Access is still allowed to public or private campsites on provincial highways or roads.

More than 900 men are now fighting 161 fires in B.C.'s five forest districts.

To last Friday 35 fires had been reported in the Kelowna forest district since the fire season officially began May 1. Of the total only five were caused through human carelessness, said Kelowna ranger H. C. Hewlett.

The total number of fires in the province to last Friday was 1,498, compared with 1,181 to the same period one year ago. The cost of extinguishing these fires was almost three times higher than last year, $1,191,706, compared with $429,000 to the end of July.

The Kamloops forest district, including the Kelowna area, was the hardest hit of any provincial district last week, with 57 new outbreaks.

A total of 591 fires have broken out since May 1, compared with 417 to the same date last year.

For Set Of Three Glasses An Expensive Price Tag

A man from Surrey, who stole three beer glasses from the Royal Anne Hotel, found in magistrate's court today that cost him approximately $8.33 each.

Irvin Urbanoski pleaded guilty to the charge of theft under $50 and was fined $25. The prosecutor said police on patrol at 11:55 p.m. Friday, observed the man walking on Water Street with three glasses of beer.

"I guess I am caught," he was quoted as saying to police. The hotel was contacted and the charge laid.

"What have you got to say?" Magistrate R. J. Moir asked the accused.

"There is not much I can say, I guess," he said.

Less than an hour after being involved in a rear-end collision on Harvey Avenue today, a Calgary man appeared in court and was fined $50 for following another vehicle too closely.

Werner J. Schrauth pleaded guilty. He was involved in an accident at 9:40 a.m. The other driver was Lucien Joseph Rousseau, Kamloops. Damage was estimated at between $250 and $300. There were no injuries.

Three men were arrested and charged with being intoxicated in a public place.

Henry Jack Kannelin, Kelowna, pleaded not guilty and the case was remanded to Monday for trial. He was released on his own recognizance of $100. He was arrested Friday in the Royal Anne cafe.

John B. Smith, no fixed address, pleaded guilty and was fined $25. He was found at 2:30 a.m. today lying on a pavement near the Farm Labor Office on Mill Street.

Glen Williams, no fixed address, was arrested at 10:20 p.m. Friday, on Water Street when he was seen by police. There was a disturbance with shouting, the prosecutor said. "Some young fellows riled me," Williams told the magistrate.

He was sentenced to one day in jail.

In magistrate's court Friday, decision was reserved to Aug. 25 in the case of Leo Gibeau of Kelowna, on trial on a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way.

POLLUTION ISSUE

Townhouse Plan Opposition Grows

By TERRY UTLEY
Courier Staff Writer

Kelowna officials believe there is one man in Victoria with supreme powers in matters of pollution control.

Apparently under the Pollution Control Act, new in 1967, C. J. Keenan, director of Pollution Control, has power to grant a permit or reject an application to discharge effluent.

Fear has been expressed locally that he may exercise this power and grant Townhouse Developments a permit to discharge treated sewage into Okanagan Lake from a proposed two-story apartment near Watt Road.

The latest objectors are 20 property owners who live in the area of the proposed development. They have retained Kelowna lawyer Brian Weddell to act on their behalf.

Irwin Schellenberg, head of Townhouse Developments, says a 28-suite apartment building is planned on a one and one-half acre lakeshore peninsula near Watt Road. The project has been under consideration for three years.

The firm handling the engineering services said a conventional mechanical activated sludge treatment plant is planned and the effluent will be of the same standard and quality as the effluent the city discharges now into Okanagan Lake. Treated effluents discharged directly into the lake contain phosphates and nitrates which cause increased algae growth which in turn leads to pollution.

Kelowna, Vernon and Penticton all discharge treated effluent into Okanagan Lake. Vernon and Penticton are investigating methods of disposing sewage on land. Kelowna has a bylaw being prepared to upgrade the standard of its sewage treatment.

The South Okanagan Union Board of Health unanimously opposed the application July 26 at an extra-ordinary meeting held to consider the Townhouse application. Medical health officer, Dr. D. A. Clarke, said he would consider any proposal to discharge effluent into Okanagan Lake a retrograde step.

A Kelowna Chamber of Commerce industrial affairs committee was asked to look into the controversial application and Thursday the chamber executive went on record as opposing any further discharge of effluent into the lake. The resolution was passed with a narrow margin, five approving and four opposing.

Mr. Weddell wrote the Pollution Control Board in Victoria, registering the protest on behalf of his clients.

The letter of protest reads in part "the property owners who have retained this firm are vigorously opposed to the granting of any such permit for that purpose, as indeed we understand is the local Union Board of Health and the Okanagan Watershed Pollution Control Council."

The letter requested "the permit not be issued in any event until a public hearing has been held enquiring into the matter." The lawyer received an acknowledgment of his protest on July 24: "Please be advised your objection will be given careful consideration when the application is reviewed and brought before the director for his adjudication." The letter was signed by A. J. Chmelauskas, pollution control engineer.

Mr. Weddell said Friday he will consider taking any legal steps available to protect the interests of his clients.

People have 30 days from July 17 to register their objections with the director of Pollution Control, Victoria.

Mr. Weddell said at the expiration of that date the permit will be granted or the application refused or a public hearing held. He is pressing for the hearing.

Residents opposing the application are: R. J. Clark, J. H. Moir, W. R. Carruthers, Robert McClelland, Garfield McKinley, H. S. Denney, J. G. Mervyn, F. W. Coulthard, J. C. Peacock, E. W. Chapman, J. C. O'Callaghan, G. A. Benedict, Arman Diewert, Donald Salzyn, R. H. Martin, G. A. Brown, J. M. Reinheimer, R. J. Lethwaite, M. C. Low and J. E. Farrend.

years. Mr. Hambleton's work is entitled "Nelson's Pioneer Banker", a scene showing the arrival, in 1892, of a bank manager in Nelson.

W. L. B. Hawker, former principal of Dr. Knox Secondary School, has been appointed district superintendent of School District 81 (Port Nelson), 83 (Portage Mountain) and 87 (Strikline). Mr. Hawker's appointment was effective Aug. 1.

A set of keys on a paper clip was found near the Courthouse this week and turned in to the RCMP. The owner may claim them at the local detachment. Police have a box of keys found during the past year.

Come back, Ogopogo. The Friendly Okanagan Lake monster, after making two "official" appearances at Kelowna this year, cruised south last week to check the security at Nakama, north of Penticton. Perhaps Ogo is worried about the Navy submarine tracking aircraft which will demonstrate three times during Regatta its Ogopogo-tracking, or, sub-tracking capabilities.

Saskatchewan is the honor province this year at the 61st International Kelowna Regatta. Chairman Murray Joyce says the choice has stirred great enthusiasm in that province. "They're co-operating with us and bending over backwards," he said.

Calling all good-looking, tall, single men in the 20 to 25 age bracket. The Regatta association needs male escorts for visiting royalty arriving here for the Regatta. The girls are in the 18 and 19 age bracket. To date 27 communities have signified they will send their "beauty queens." Anyone wishing to act as an escort should contact Mrs. Wilbur Westradowski in Canada during the last 150 days.

ON THE CORNER...

The department of highways has been busy in the Kelowna district and making changes noted are markings on the Lakeshore Road. The road previously had a dotted line down the centre for its full length. Homer Robinson says after several requests the department has remarked the road with a solid line in some sections with a double solid line and in others a dotted section.

Highway 97 near the western approach to the Okanagan Lake bridge, has a barred loop in the centre of the roadway which prevents cars from passing on the right prior to the commencement of the double line for cars ascending the bridge hill. Magistrate D. M. White initiated this change.

A bridge on Mission Creek at Benvoulin and Swamp roads has been dismantled and a temporary road made across the creek by building a sand road over culverts.

W. H. Cleaver, counsellor with the Canada Manpower Centre in Kelowna, was transferred Aug. 1 to Vernon as a senior counsellor.

The City of Kelowna's self-service curb payment box has been "tuned down." Formerly an "awful" bright orange, the box is now a "pinks and oranges" green. When the Water Street box became orange Ald. Thomas Angus said he could almost see it from home (the other side of Harvey Avenue on Water) and Mayor R. F. Parkinson was also suffering from eyestrain.

A painting by Jack Hambleton of Hamilton Art Galleries in Kelowna is one of 38 Canadian paintings unveiled Monday in Vancouver. The collection, commissioned by the Bank of Montreal as a centennial project, is the largest ever shown in Canada during the last 150 years.

OFF AGAIN SOON

After Tough Climb, Relief

By ALJE KAMMINGA
Courier Staff Writer

Byron Olson, sporting a month-long beard, described a tremendous feeling of relief today—the relief that comes with conquering a "tough" mountain.

The Kelowna mountain climber, recently returned from the Yukon where he and three other climbers fought to the summit of Mount British Columbia, said the climb was one of the toughest he has been on.

"When the leader finally reached the summit, we felt only relief," he said.

The leader was actually the only member of the group to reach the summit. In an hour and one-half struggle to reach the top, driving snow and fog threw the climbers back.

Snow was built in the loose rock along the final 100 feet, where a steep ice slope and slushy snow again confronted the climbers.

"It would have taken the rest of us an hour each to reach the summit," Olson said. "With conditions the way they were, we decided against it."

He said the mountain was "a dangerous one" and the climbing team at lower altitudes made the entire climb difficult.

A huge snow cornice, caused by irregular winds on the summit, added some 25 feet to an already high top. The cornice was impossible to scale and

BYRON OLSON ... before leaving

Climbing became tougher as the expedition reached the final few thousand feet of the 10,200 foot mountain.

The final 1,000 feet took 18 hours to climb.

Olson was one of 52 climbers on the Yukon alpine centennial expedition that assaulted 13 mountains in the Centennial Range of the St. Elias Mountains.

Mt. British Columbia was the eighth of the mountains to be climbed.

The summit of Mt. British Columbia was reached on the sixth day of the climb.

Olson has already set his sights on higher peaks. He leaves Kelowna Aug. 26 for Europe where he will travel from Germany to India. He expects to stay about a year.

"We will spend about a month in Nepal where there are other climbers we know. We'll certainly look at some of the mountains in the area," he said.

A month-long hike is planned along the base of Mt. Everest covering some of the routes leading to the spot where actual ascents begin.

"We hope to cover some of the passes somewhere around 10,000 feet but we definitely won't try to climb the mountain," he said.

The Macenard architect has been climbing for about 11 or 12 years.

VISITORS OF WEEK HONORED

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wallace of Calgary were Kelowna's "visitors of the week," this week the third couple to be honored since the special recognition idea was revived last month by the Visitor and Convention Bureau of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce.

Presenting the Wallaces was a basket of Okanagan fruit is Aid. Thomas Angus, wearing a Regatta hat and an unlimited hydroplane booster button. The photograph was taken on the city hall lawn, with the provincial government building in the background.

World Strategy Required To Avert 'Guerrilla' War

Guerrilla warfare throughout the Americas and Vietnam all over the world. There's a world view and a world program for the rest of the century. The events are not to happen by accident or default as in the past; now they are to be planned at world conferences and sustained as world strategy. The goal, as declared, is freedom in general, and in particular, freedom from the U.S.A., the Anglo-Saxons, and the whites.

What world-strategy have we to meet it? If all we do is apply military force, however great, to each outbreak as it occurs, all we do is increase the widespread hatred against us; and while we might win a few battles the war could go on and on—as the Vietnam war now have is proving.

Are we not capable of conceiving and fulfilling such a world strategy that people will believe that we sincerely desire them to have their own kind of freedom and world responsibility, not a kind that we intend to force on them?

Can we not so greatly increase our program of skill-sharing and mutual understanding that fear and hate will subside? Can we not put our best educators and publicity people to work to create a world enterprise filled with a feeling of eager sharing in the production of a new world-sized civilization unpredictable in its detail, but glorious in its power to give freedom and to call forth responsible support everywhere?

Before you reject this as impractical dreaming, please look at the alternatives before us. Either we vigorously and diligently use our Western (mostly white-owned) resources to help form a new world-civilization or else we fight a series of petty but costly rear-guard actions while a civilization based on hating us is emerging.

It's high time we had a world view, a world strategy and world programs all geared to the right of every person and his community to share in the world civilization that none of us can yet see or describe. Only thus can we capture the imagination and call forth zeal and endurance. Only thus can we hope to match and surpass those who are now planning universal guerrilla warfare and a continuous variety of Vietnams.

Sweden Moves To Right

Probably there are a good many British Columbians who will remember the day back in the twenties when this province changed from left to right hand drive. They will appreciate some of the things which were involved in the change-over and will perhaps have a little sympathy for the people of Sweden who will make the big switch on Sunday, September 3, leaving Britain the only left-hand-driving European country.

The Swedes have been making great plans to have the change made smoothly. They figure the total initial cost of traffic reform at about $120,000, plus another $600,000,000 invested in roads and streets between 1965 and 1970. A thousand new buses are necessary; 400,000 mail boxes will have to be moved; 50 million pamphlets in 12 languages have been printed; 19,000 functionaries will guide pedestrians across the street on September 3; the total number of people active on change-over duties will reach 200,000.

Japan is sending a special team to watch how the Swedes do it and learn for its own switch.

Picture road signs will have to be changed completely. For instance the signs warning of moose crossings.

These will have to be reversed completely as no one thus far has seen a moose run backwards. The same goes for the reindeer in the north of the country.

Bus stops must be moved, gas stations and parking lots as well, and seeing-eye dogs must be retrained. A smart manufacturer has already begun marketing pairs of gloves for the insecure, a red one for the left hand and a green one for the right. The idea is that cautious drivers will thus always have a reminder at hand, provided they actually wear the gloves.

But most interesting to make the traffic change-over as smooth as possible, all motor traffic will be banned on all roads from 1 a.m. to 6 a.m. on September 3. In central Stockholm the ban goes into effect at 10 p.m. on September 2. Exceptions are granted in the case of emergency but for 10 minutes, between 4:50 a.m. and 5:00 a.m. on the crucial day, not one single car or other vehicle will move on the roads of Sweden.

About 300 foreign newsmen will cover the change-over. This will be the biggest gathering of communications media people ever seen in Stockholm. They will be there to watch Sweden move from the left to the right.

Bygone Days

10 YEARS AGO August 1957

Commodore of the 1957 Regatta will be George S. Mooney, Montreal, executive director of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities. The first Commodore was chosen in 1924 and was Col. Victor Spencer, who was also the Commodore from 1928 to 1935 inclusive.

20 YEARS AGO August 1947

All previous attendance records were broken by the 1947 Regatta, Kelowna's 41st successive water show. Ideal weather prevailed and crowds jammed the Park. Irene Strong retained the Hiram Walker Cup for the second successive year, when she won the ladies aggregate, Peter Salmon of Victoria retained the Blackwell Cup.

30 YEARS AGO August 1937

Lester Patrick, manager of the New York Rangers, last year's runners up for the Stanley Cup, spoke to the Kelowna Rotary Club luncheon and in the evening the Gyron. He told of the famous Madison Square Garden and of his hockey team. Cyclone Taylor of Vancouver was the greatest player of all time, in his opinion.

40 YEARS AGO August 1927

The Rutland Girl Guides held an enjoyable camp near Petrie's Cabins, Woods Lake. The Windfall Guides under their leader, Miss Ethel Duggan, camped with them. Mrs. A. W. Gray, Rutland Guide Captain, was in charge. The Guides did their own cooking, each patrol taking turns. The weather was hot and an enjoyable time was spent.

Europe, U.S. Most Helpful In China's Nuclear Progress

The United States, Russia and Europe inadvertently helped China's rapid development of nuclear power. The tangled background is explored in the second of three articles by Associated Press writers Alton L. Blakeslee and William L. Ryan.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

The United States and the Soviet Union gave significant help to China's drive for nuclear power. The U.S. trained highly-skilled scientists and then deported them to China. Russia sent scientists, technicians and materials to China and trained Chinese in Russia. Other scientists were trained in France and elsewhere.

Now both are appalled at the prospect of an unstable China possessing nuclear-tipped missiles. Eventually China, with a wealth of talented people and natural resources, would have made it on her own. But in 32 months she marched from atom bomb to H-bomb, one-third the time it had taken the United States.

Peking is implacably hostile to the U.S.

Before the Second World War, there was a heavy influx of Chinese students into the U.S. By 1950, more than 3,000 Chinese were on U.S. campuses.

THREATS SNARE MOST

Many remained after communism took over the mainland. Some were lured back by threats. Some were frightened by the era of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy and his celebrated hunt for Communists.

About 80 men whose U.S. training could contribute much to a nuclear program went back.

The roll of Chinese scientists who went home from U.S. is impressive.

Among them were: Dr. Chao Chung-yao, outstanding physicist, alumnus of the California Institute of Technology, veteran of 24 years research in the U.S. and once an official observer at U.S. A-bomb tests; Dr. Tsien Hsue-shen, brilliant Caltech alumnus considered one of the world's top rocket researchers, who undoubtedly had a key part in marrying China's nuclear warhead to a missile; Dr. Hsiao Lo-keng, top mathematician who spent four years at the University of Illinois and is credited by Communist sources with a big role in China's bomb program.

One of the most intriguing stories was that of Dr. Tsien. He arrived in the U.S. in 1935 to study at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In 1936 he transferred to Caltech to study of rocket propulsion. During the Second World War Tsien became head of the rocket section of the U.S. national defense scientific advisory board. After the war he went to Germany to investigate secrets of Hitler's rocket scientists.

Tsien was officially credited with contribution of U.S. victory in the war and with essential contributions to the later rocket and space programs.

HEAD LAB PROGRAM

Tsien became Goddard professor of propulsion at Caltech and head of the jet propulsion laboratory in Pasadena. In 1949 he fled notice of intention to become a U.S. citizen.

In 1950 Tsien's security clearance for sensitive work was lifted. Twelve years before, Tsien's friends included scientists and others whom the government would later call members of a Communist party unit. A party registration in Tsien's name was found by an undercover agent, but not in Tsien's handwriting and without his signature. He denied having registered. The undercover agent himself testified anyone could register a desirable candidate for membership without the subject's knowledge.

After two weeks behind bars, Tsien was released in bail. Hearings dragged into the spring of 1951. He was declared deportable but was far too valuable to deport. For five years, forbidden to leave, Tsien continued teaching and turning out brilliant papers, though removed from sensitive work. Colleagues refused to believe he ever was a Communist.

Suddenly in 1955 the government deported Tsien along with 39 Chinese students mostly in graduate scientific work. As soon as he arrived in China, Tsien was put to work on missile research.

HEADS ATOM RESEARCH

Dr. Chao Chung-yao, the nuclear physicist, eluded U.S. authorities at about the time of Tsien's arrest. He sailed for China with three Chinese scientists. U.S. Army authorities tried—and failed—to hold him in Japan. In China, Chao became deputy director in the Atomic Research Institute, which he established.

Europe helped too. The man credited with heading China's program, Chien San-chiang, studied in Paris with the celebrated Frederick Joliot-Curie. Dr. Nieh Jung-cheng studied as a physicist in France, Belgium and Germany. He is in general military-political charge of the bomb program.

Of the leading 200 scientists mobilized for the Chinese program, more than three quarters were trained abroad.

China begged Russia for nuclear help. Moscow and Peking agreed on joint activity. The Russians installed a plant to process Shinkiang's uranium ore.

In 1955, Moscow agreed to a program of "scientific-technical co-operation" and "peaceful use of atomic energy." Russian help included a 7,000-kilowatt capacity reactor, a cyclotron and fissionable materials.

In 1956 Russia established the Joint Institute for Nuclear Research. Large numbers of Chinese participated there.

OFFERS SAMPLE

In 1957, the then Russian premier Nikita Khrushchev promised China a sample A-bomb and data on how to manufacture it.

But in a Moscow speech in November that year, Mao said that "if the worst came to the worst, and half of mankind should die in nuclear war, the other half would remain, while imperialism would be razed to the ground, and the whole world would become socialist."

Khrushchev's repeated references to this remark made clear he had heard it with horror as a demonstration of Chinese recklessness. In June, 1959, he tore up the agreement to give China a sample bomb.

China was in a position to move forward, despite Khrushchev's abrupt removal of 1,000 Soviet scientists and engineers. In the fall of 1964, there was two great upheavals: Moscow fired Khrushchev; the Chinese fired their first atom blast.

BIRD WAS NO HOMER

COLCHESTER, England (CP)—Sir Samson's racing pigeon was supposed to fly from Perth, Scotland to Essex, but instead it turned up 7,600 miles away in Takoradi, Ghana. Sir Samson said the bird probably lost its bearings. Then, finding a ship at sea, it stayed aboard until it sighted land it thought worth making for. He plans to bring the bird home and display it at his local pigeon club.

LOOKING BACK WITH OLD STAGER

Pioneer Mara Left His Mark

By ART GRAY

Those who travel the highway to Sicamous, drive along the shores of a usually placid lake, called Mara Lake. They may also see a sign pointing westward to a little hamlet and a station on the railway that runs south from Sicamous to Okanagan Landing, that bears the same name Mara.

John Andrew Mara was a pioneer of British Columbia who played an important part in developing the B.C. Interior, as a miner, merchant and a shareholder in the company that built the railroad. He was also associated with George Grant MacKay and others in the Okanagan Land and Development Company. He came to B.C. with the famed Overlanders on foot, across western Canada to the Cariboo gold fields in 1862.

John Andrew Mara was born in Toronto on July 21, 1840, and was raised and educated there. In 1862, in company with a group of other young men of that city, he headed for the famed Cariboo gold fields. The Toronto group joined up with other groups of Canadians in Winnipeg to cross the vast prairies and rugged mountains beyond, forming the famous band known as the "Overlanders."

After terrible hardships they finally reached the Cariboo, to find many miners were leaving the area. Later he mined in the Big Bend country, and A. L. Fortune, in his memoirs, makes reference to Mara operating a store on Shuswap Lake, at Seymour Arm, and obtaining supplies from Mara while prospecting in the Big Bend.

The Colonist of May 13, 1867, makes mention of a gentleman in Victoria receiving a letter from Mara telling of progress in the French Creek area, in which he states that "the weather is fine, the season is two weeks earlier than last, and most of the miners on the river are already at work."

In one case, which was evidently a mine in which he was involved, he states: "In one, the 'Scotch Canadian', we are down 90 feet. We had to work 15 men four-hour shifts to keep the water down. The 'Blue Nose Company' in front of us have good ground, last week they took $150 in one barrowful of dirt." Another issue in 1868 tells of Mara making a trip to Victoria and Vancouver in which he "came over Seymour Mountain on snowshoes on his trip down from the Big Bend, there being six feet of snow on the trail."

KOOTENAY MP

Mara became involved in British Columbia politics about this time, and became member for Kootenay riding in the legislature. In the colonial legislature at Victoria he, in common with others who had come from "eastern Canada," as we now call it, gave strong support to union of British Columbia with the Canadian Confederation. From 1883 to 1886 he was the Speaker of the House at Victoria. In 1886 he resigned his seat in the provincial house to contest the federal riding of Yale, at that time a huge constituency embracing the entire Cariboo, Kamloops and Okanagan country. He made his home in Kamloops where he had built a fine big house. He was married in 1882. The Victoria Colonist in the somewhat flowery language of that day describes the ceremony thus:

"Duval Cottage, the residence of F. J. Barnard, MP, was the scene of a very interesting ceremony, the occasion being the nuptials of John A. Mara, MPP, to Miss Alice Barnard, only daughter of the host, in the presence of a large gathering of friends. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Stephen, pastor of St. Andrew's, in the drawing-room of the cottage. The fair young bride looked charming in a white corded silk princess dress, on train, embroidered and trimmed with satin and Spanish lace.

An elegant tulle veil, hand embroidered, and orange blossoms completed the beautiful tout ensemble. The bridegroom was Miss Charles, who wore a blue silk and net dress, with lace cap, a pretty and very becoming costume. The bridegroom

CANADA'S STORY

Mackenzie King Survived Problems

By BOB BOWMAN

William Lyon Mackenzie was one of Canada's leading rebels in 1837. Yet on Aug. 5, 1919, his grandson, William Lyon Mackenzie King, became leader of the Liberal party. Then he went on to establish a record of serving as prime minister longer than any other man in the British Commonwealth; nearly 21 years.

Mackenzie King then joined the Laurier government as Minister of Labor, but was defeated in the 1911 election. Then his struggles began. His father was going blind, his beloved mother was gravely ill, and a brother had tuberculosis. Mackenzie King was in desperate financial straits until a rich English lady, Violet Markham, gave him an annuity of $1500. The tide turned, and the Rockefeller Foundation of New York engaged him as a consultant on labor matters for $20,000 a year. However, this was during World War I and Mackenzie King was later attacked by political opponents in later years for having been away from Canada.

OTHER EVENTS ON AUGUST 5:

- 1583 Sir Humphrey Gilbert claimed Newfoundland for England.
- 1689 Trojans massacred settlement at Lachine, near Montreal.
- 1763 British defeated Indians at Red Bank, near Fort Hall, Pa.
- 1789 Bishop Inglis held first convention of Protestant Episcopal Church at Quebec.
- 1822 Imperial act regulated trade between Upper and Lower Canada.
- 1843 "Royal Warrant" left Quebec for first voyage across Atlantic entirely under steam power.
- 1914 British Columbia bought two submarines on outbreak of World War I.

J. A. MARA
... name well used

was attended by his best man, A. W. Vowell, magistrate of Cassiar.

"At the close of the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Mara received the warm congratulations of their friends. The wedding presents were numerous, appropriate and costly. Later in the evening the spacious rooms were filled with guests and dancing was continued until midnight, when the company sat down to a sumptuous repast. The newly-married pair have launched their barque on a smooth sea, with a fair wind. May they have a prosperous voyage."

After a wedding trip to California they returned to Kamloops to make their home. He campaigned as a Conservative in 1886 and carried the big Cariboo riding, and continued to hold the seat for 10 years. In 1896 he was defeated by the Liberal candidate, Hewitt Bostock, in the federal election that saw the Liberals sweep into power under their new leader, Wilfrid Laurier.

At that time Mara was only 56 years of age, and he felt at a loss without the political activities he had become used to, and while in a financial position to retire, was too active a man for that. The discovery of gold in the Klondike revived the gold mining fever of his younger days as an Overlander. He did not plan any trip on foot this time, however, he had other ideas. He had a stern wheeler built at the coast, which he called the Slikine Chief, in which he planned to dredge for gold in the rivers of Alaska and Yukon. Being a stern-wheeler the vessel could not travel under its own power on the open sea, and was towed by a tug, the Fastnet. They set out from Vancouver May 7, 1898, and headed north. In a heavy storm off Alaska the Slikine Chief foundered, but the crew and baggage was transferred safely to the tug. Mara returned to Victoria and abandoned his ideas of further gold mining.

His wife and family had gone to Europe and were at Weimar, Germany, when news came of the sinking of the ship, but no word of the crew. For many anxious days Mrs. Mara was fearful that she was a widow. Mara joined them in Europe and they visited Britain, and upon their return to B.C., took up residence in Victoria, buying part of the Barnard property, and building a fine home on Pemberton Road. Still an active man, he busied himself with board of trade activities, the Jubilee Hospital, the Anti-Tuberculosis Society and the Union Club. His wife died, still a relatively young woman, in April 1906. In 1912 the noted artist Wylie Grier was commissioned to paint Mara's portrait, which now hangs in a place of honor in the Union Club, Victoria.

On Feb. 11, 1920, John Andrew Mara, who had walked halfway across the continent in search of gold almost 60 years before, died at his residence on Pemberton Road. A daughter, Miss Nellie Mara, and the only son, Layton Mara, an officer in the British navy, were at the bedside.

The Victoria Colonist commented: "By his business talent and force of character, he was destined to become one of the leaders in affairs, colonial, provincially and federally."

Paul's preaching in Thessalonica so antagonized some Jewish leaders that believers were charged with treason and brought before the magistrates. Paul left for Berea.—Acts 17:1-10.

Though the Bereans were more open-minded and knowledgeable of the Scriptures, Thessalonians followed him there and made trouble. Paul sailed for Athens.—Acts 17:11-15.

In that intellectual atmosphere, Paul's preaching provoked no one and he was not persecuted. Instead, leading philosophers invited him to speak at the Areopagus.—Acts 17:16-22.

Preaching as an intellectual, Paul impressed the Athenians but failed to move them. Discouraged, he left the city.—Acts 17:23-34. GOLDEN TEXT: Acts 17:24, 25.

Adventist Meet Near Winfield

Hundreds of Seventh-day Adventists from the Okanagan and other areas in B.C. converged on the camp ground at Winfield for a week of fellowship, Bible instruction and mission reports. There were meetings for all age groups from youth to infancy. There were also meetings for the ethnic groups.

A. Norman How, newly-elected president of the Seventh-day Adventist churches of B.C., was in charge.

From Washington, D.C., world headquarters of the church, came C. O. Franz, J. V. Scully and J. J. Aitken to represent various departments.

Pastor Aitken is in charge of the television and radio ministry for the church throughout the world. He is proficient in several languages. He also gave a glowing report of Brazil where he spent many years as a mis-

'New Look' Bishop Heads Force For Helping South Americans

TORONTO (CP)—The Anglican Church of Canada has named a "new look" bishop to head a task force charged with developing an intensified program of helping the people of South America.

Rev. Guy Marshall, rector of St. Stephen's parish in Toronto, will be a "missionary in episcopal orders" serving without a diocese or a synod office and with a minimum of administrative duties when he goes to Venezuela.

His consecration as Suffragan Bishop of Trinidad and Tobago, with the title of bishop in Venezuela, will take place in Ottawa Aug. 24 during meetings of the church's general synod. He will be consecrated by Most Rev. Alan J. Knigh, Archbishop of the West Indies.

The department of missions says Canon Marshall will not primarily serve English-speaking Anglicans in Venezuela.

His job will be that of a pioneer episcopal ministry, the department said and will be supported by Canadian contributions to the Anglican World Mission, with the Bishop of Trinidad providing a headquarters in Caracas.

Canon Marshall gained experience for his new work after 14 years in Buenos Aires and Rosario, Argentina, where he became fluent in Spanish while serving on the missions to seamen.

In Canada, he was chaplain to the Navy League of Canada.

Liturgical Competition At Friends World Conference

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—A bit of liturgical competition was going on today at the Friends World Conference over ways of worship—programmed or unprogrammed.

The longtime tradition of Quakers has been to worship without ritual, simply meeting in silent meditation with anyone free to speak when he feels spiritually moved to do so, but a different more planned pattern was developed in parts of the U.S.

It involves regular use of scripture texts, hymns and pulp pastor, somewhat similar to most Protestant services, and it was a matter of puzzlement to Quakers from Europe.

"It's quite astonishing, a very strange thing for us British Quakers," said George Gorman of London. "It strikes me as a brand of Methodism."

The different worship forms and the asserted values of each were topics of animated discussions at this 10-day international gathering which continues through next Wednesday. Canadians are attending.

Like Europeans, most Quakers in the Northeastern and Middle Eastern United States continue to use the unprogrammed worship of "silent waiting," but many groups in the Midwest, West and South-east have taken on the programmed style.

This retains brief interludes of silence, open to spontaneous reaction of participants, but much of the service involves a regular devotional sequence. An estimated two thirds of the 120,000 Quakers in the U.S. use the modified form to various degrees.

Tyson Critical

HALIFAX (CP)—United States evangelist Tommy Tyson says the immorality of United States soldiers in Vietnam is having a serious impact on the civilian population.

Stopping off here after completing a tour of the Far East, Mr. Tyson said Friday that in some Vietnam communities the prostitute is looked up to as one of the most respected citizens because of her affluence.

He blamed the breakdown of morals on the immaturity of many young soldiers and their natural fears as they went into combat.

He said one bright spot was the efforts and faith displayed by the United States chaplains who are attempting to cope with moral breakdown.

Rev. Pike A Swinger

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, B.C. (CP)—Rev. Harry Pike is a swinger.

A former navy chaplain in semi-retirement at this southern Vancouver Island community, Mr. Pike has vitality which puts men half his age to shame.

At 67, he is a sports car enthusiast, an active golfer, skater and zither player.

He frequently barrels down the Trans-Canada Highway in his light Lotus Elan either to play golf or to minister to his Protestant community church at Elk Lake.

His Lotus, weighing only 1,500 pounds and capable of an honest 130 miles an hour, is transportation the clergyman enjoys. He confesses to pushing it to almost top speed on wide-open prairie highways.

A self-taught zither player, he will play hymns or popular hits at the drop of a hat.

OLD TREES
The oldest trees in the world are the bristlecone pines of California—some are 4,500 years old.

Garbage Collectors In Wrappings

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver's garbage collectors are praising the "mod look" in garbage wrapping.

During May the city sanitation department handed out large plastic bags to housewives in some areas of the city to test the reaction of the women and garbage collectors. Garbagemen were almost unanimous in saying the use of the bags helped them keep cleaner and made the collecting faster.

Housewives were also impressed. "It cuts down on the smell," one said. "I'm all in favor of continuing this as long as the sanitation department supplies the bags," another said.

ANN LANDERS

Methodist Handshake Brings Back Memories

Dear Ann Landers: Your definition of a "Methodist handshake" brought back some wonderful memories.

Many years ago, when I was sweet 16, a handsome chap who was a couple years older, asked me to go to the downtown recreation center. (In those days, this was considered a very special date.)

We played table tennis, did a little imitation tap dancing, and harmonized with the piano player who had a handle-bar moustache. After a strawberry soda, we walked to phonograph music and called it the end of a wonderful evening. He took me home on the streetcar and I was in seventh heaven.

When we reached the front door he asked if he could kiss me good night. I replied, "No, my mother wouldn't think it was very ladylike."

He looked at me in astonishment and asked, "What kind of a mother do you have, anyway?" I replied, "My mother is a Methodist." He smiled and answered, "O.K., then. Give me a Methodist handshake."

I shook his hand and shut the door. We moved away shortly after that and I never saw him again, but I will always remember that "Methodist handshake." I had not heard the expression in 40 years and then it popped up in your column—so thanks for reviving some beautiful memories. —OHIO.

Dear Ohio: Thank you for a delightful letter. If more 1927 evenings ended with a Methodist handshake my mail would be a lot lighter.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a woman in my middle 20's who learned awfully late what life was all about.

Last winter I became ill and lost my job. A man I knew slightly took an interest in me. He helped out with the rent, paid my doctor bills and brought me groceries.

Gradually we drifted into an intimate relationship. He moved in and we are now living together. This man is everything I want in a husband. I love him very much and he says he loves me, but whenever I mention marriage he says he can't afford it.

How can I get him to make this arrangement legal? I want a family. — WIFE WITH NO NAME.

Dear No Name: Stop begging. Tell the guy to move out immediately and let him know it is an order—not a request. If you aren't back at work two days later, inform him there will be no more playing house until you are his legal wife.

If he doesn't come around to your way of thinking within three months, write him off and find someone whose ideas are more like yours.

Dear Ann Landers: We have a summer cottage and we enjoy company. But we can't afford to entertain people around the clock seven days a week.

Water skiing is the big thing in this area but some folks don't realize how much it costs to run a boat hour after hour. The oil and gas bills are murder. We hate to mention it because it might sound cheap. Any suggestions? —TAPPED OUT.

Dear Tapped: When you feel a certain group has had enough—simply say, "Sorry, we're out of petrol, kiddies," and don't fill the tank until they leave.

Dear Ann Landers: I am engaged to a wonderful girl. I have become very close to her family and I think the world of them. Her parents are divorced, and I seem to be man of the house already.

The problem is an 11-year-old boy. This kid has a terrible chip on his shoulder. Hal sasses his mother and gets into fights with his teachers and neighbors. He has no friends. His father remarried and now has two sons by that marriage. This has hurt Hal a lot.

Last week I bought him some popcorn. He refused to share it with his sisters so I told him I wanted the popcorn back. He got mad and threw the popcorn in my face. I spanked him. He hasn't spoken to me since.

Hal can be very nice, but it only lasts a few days and then he gets mean again. Please tell me how to get along with him. —LOST

Dear Lost: Hal needs more help than you can give him. Please urge his mother to see that the lad gets counselling. His anti-social behavior is a symptom of a deeper problem.

Salmon Arm Church Is Scene Of Denter-Tavonius Wedding

Bouquets of roses and white daisies decorated the Evangelical Free Church in Salmon Arm for the July evening wedding of Louise Tavonius of Kelowna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tavonius of Salmon Arm and Laurence Jack Denter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Denter of Kelowna.

Rev. K. Loge officiated at the ceremony and Kurt Christopherson sang the Wedding Prayer and I'll Walk Beside You, accompanied by Mrs. N. Redman.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a gown of pea d'elance overlaid with daisies and pearls, fashioned with a high empire waistline and an A-line skirt, with a graceful train flowing from the waist. A wedding ring band centered with daisies and pearls held in place her elbow length veil of silk illusion tulle. She wore old pearl earrings and she carried a cascading bouquet of red roses centered with white daisies.

Mrs. Frank Draxinger of North Vancouver, who was her sister's matron of honor, and Miss June Murphy of Vernon, who was bridesmaid, both wore pink dresses styled similarly to the bride's gown. ## Man's Back Made For Four Feet . . .

WINNIPEG (CP)—Man's back is made for walking on four feet, says Dr. W. S. Melvin of Toronto.

"You've got the same back as a cow but a cow has enough sense to put its front feet on the ground," the orthopedic surgeon said in an interview, adding that the number of back injuries increases faster than all others.

"Our worst time for back injuries is August. That's when all the part-time athletes come back from the lakes."

He was critical of persons who participate in sports for which their body is not constructed such as skiing.

St. Saviour's Church Penticton Scene Of Pretty July Wedding

St. Saviour's Anglican Church in Penticton was the scene of a pretty evening wedding when Sally May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Penhale Claydon of Penticton, became the bride of John Daniel Sapinsky, son of J. J. Sapinsky and the late Mrs. Sapinsky of Kelowna.

Rev. R. Turner officiated at the double-ring ceremony on July 15 and Mrs. Margaret Millsood sang the Wedding Prayer accompanied by Rod Butler.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of pea de sole fashioned on princess lines with bell shaped sleeves, a scoop neckline and a floor length train which fell gracefully from her shoulders. Her headress was a rose of pea de sole, holding in place a four-yard long veil bordered with Chantilly lace which fell to her elbows in front, and swept into a long over-train at back. She carried a bouquet of gladioli and stocks.

For something old the bride wore her grandmother's cameo earrings and for something borrowed the groom's late mother's watch. The maid of honor was Miss Marcia Maranda of Vancouver, the bridesmaid was Mrs. Margaret Lehmann of Kelowna, and the bridesmaid was Miss Linda Clayton of Richmond, cousin of the bride. The three attendants wore floor length dresses of emerald green. Their head-dresses were pea de sole roses trimmed with short matching veils, and they carried bouquets of white marguerite daisies.

Acting as his brother's best man was Edward Sapinsky of Kelowna, and the ushers were the bride's brother Philip Claydon of Penticton, and her cousin Frank Clayton of Richmond.

At the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, the mother of the bride received wearing a floor-length dress of pale green lace over pea de sole, complemented with orange and bone accessories, and a corsage of Tropicana roses.

Philip Wedell proposed the toast to his god-daughter and was ably answered by the groom. The best man gave the toast to the bridesmaids.

These Youngsters Like Politics

WINNIPEG (CP)—A group of 24 Winnipeg youngsters agree with politicians who maintain politics is a fascinating business.

The youngsters, all between 12 and 16, have formed a group called The Probers and meet once a month to study the workings of the Canadian political system.

"It's great," says 12-year-old Joanne Kowalyk. "We learn how Canada is run, what the jobs of the MPs are and why we have them. The group really gives us a chance to learn. If we didn't have it, we wouldn't think about politics."

Children Have Ball Visiting The Animals At Fantasy Farm

KALEIDEN, B.C. (CP)—Children have a ball at Fantasy Farm. So do the animals.

More than 50 pots, representing nearly all species of Canadian domestic animals, have been gathered on the farm in this Okanagan Valley community.

They live and roam in an orchard setting with brightly colored individual dwellings kept as neat as a pin.

The idea of opening a children's farm was the dream for many years of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McKee. When they bought a house and orchard in Kaleiden they found the ideal site.

They already owned rabbits, boarding kennels and a grey donkey who "has been with us for years." These made up the foundation on which to build their collection of animals.

Bob McKee, an adept carpenter, has made numerous huts, hutches and pens of various sizes to suit all the animals. He also produced Disney-type characters giving the farm a touch of fantasy to appeal to children.

The animal collecting started last winter. Chickens, ducks and a calf were not a problem to buy, said Mr. McKee, but the pony had to be chosen carefully.

"We wanted a quiet one which could be trained to pull the sulky," he said. Margaret, the two-year-old goat, is a recent purchase to go with a three-week-old kid which the McKees' two children bottle-feed.

Two Daschunds, one around their ankles and six white ducks and six mallards are well attached to their specially installed pond.

The farm area of two acres was fenced in before the official opening July 1. "We intend to open the pens and let the animals wander loose in the paddock," said Mrs. McKee.

"The children go in and play and touch them. We think it is much more fun for them than watching animals behind bars or from a distance."

The McKees plan to sell some of the animals next year and buy young stock to replace them. "They grow so quickly, especially those born in early spring," Mrs. McKee said. "We want young animals mostly so children can play with them safely," she said.

Molyneux Collection Stresses Elegance Praise 'Mod' Look

PARIS (AP)—Capt. Edward Molyneux presented his winter collection Thursday and stressed elegance and femininity for the international set.

Coats are given special attention. Ranging from batwing to military lines, they are short-waisted and calf length.

Suits are detailed and notched jackets, fitting snugly at the hips, are worn with a flared, pleated, sunray, or straight skirt.

Various styles in coats are included, from the exaggerated batwing in white wool to a swing-styled vanilla with a sunray neckline. High boots are worn with most all outdoor number.

For evening wear, soft crepes and brocades come into the Molyneux picture, with black velvet and tulle.

Capacity of a favorite — Rome and now a Paris designer — showed a rich collection of clothes that played on a single theme throughout. The high-waisted rain dress or coat.

Rich's Column

By RICHARD VIVONE

What's new? Nothing except the rest of this column.

There should be a campaign organized to rechristen the Pan-American games the American games. This logical project comes direct from any sports page where the Pan-Am medal standings are available. They show the U.S. as winners of 103 gold medals in 143 events which says enough. Poor old Netherlands Antilles won't get rich in medals winning all of one bronze medallion.

The Kelowna and District Softball League playoffs begin Sunday with the Royal Anne Royals who won 16 of 19 games this season and finished in first place meeting third place Rutland Rovers who won 11 of 19 games. Thursday, remember you read it here first—Rutland is going to knock off the Royals in three games and advance to the finals against Willow Inn Willows who will beat Vernon, also in three games.

Look at the National League standings. See that those wonderful St. Louis Cardinals are seven games ahead of second place Chicago who should be about eighth. See that the San Francisco Giants are 8 1/2 back of the Cards. Care to know why? Just ask Chub Feeney, Giants general manager, who had the audacity to swap Orlando Cepeda for the grossly ineffective Ray Sadeski. Easily Cepeda has been the major factor for the Cards and has won at least eight games by himself.

Kelowna is beautiful. It has hotels, a swanky City Park, enough pubs, enough females, excellent weather, no adequate tennis courts, a crying need for a swimming pool and nothing else.

Heard Jan. 1: I can't wait for summer and some of that sunshine.
Heard Friday: When is winter coming and some of that nice cool air.

Verdict: Live in Kelowna in the winter and Nipigon, Ont., in the summer. The weather will be the same all year round.

The tale of three Old Stylers who wish to remain anonymous — I won't play for that club again next year. Instead, I'll play for the ...

The hydroplane story from an astute observer of the sporting scene: They were boring as hell. I don't know why anyone would want to go see them again. They go about 150 mph and that isn't fast. But to tell a secret, I'm going to go again because if someone cracks up, I want to see it.

Only kids will do it. Last summer Bobby Hull and company were signing autographs for the youngsters. One dapper chap was unable to bring his son to the event so he hired his neighbor for the task. The neighbor accomplished the feat and on the way home, the elder, to start a conversation said, "I'll bet you're going to put that autograph in a pretty safe place." The youngster replied, "No, I've got Hull and Shack now and my chum will trade his skate board for both of them."

Kelowna Labatts baseball team got into the swing of things in the first game of the Okanagan Mainline Baseball League. They dropped a 12-10 decision to the Penticton Molsons who finished in second place but three players wallpopped homers. It was pretty well the same old story with Labatts getting absolutely no pitching. Second game of the playoffs will be played at Elks Stadium Monday night.

A number of local fans have already driven home the final nail in the Labatts coffin. The consensus is Labatts must improve the caliber of ball in order to get the fans back on their side. As it stands, and this is not just one man's opinion, local ball watchers and former fans just don't care, which is in keeping with Kelowna—a town that supports winners and lets the losers starve.

Roar, you B.C. Lions roar — to which the reply came "meow, meow."

When Peter Kempf was traded to the Eskimos, you read here that it was the mistake of a lifetime for the Alouettes. Als got Manley Sarnowski for Kempf. Friday, the Als chopped Sarnowski and Kempf is still with the Eskies and will be all season and for as long as he wants to stay.

Canadian universities are really interested in keeping young athletes in this country. Perry Stang, one of the best football players and track men to come out of the Okanagan, got a scholarship offer from Simon Fraser. It would give him tuition for one semester and nothing else. But Tulsa University offered him the world and the moon. UBC just said that we have the best university in B.C. so come to us but we won't give you anything. Figures.

Soccer players in France have permission to carry advertisements for beer, ball-point pens and washing machines on their sweaters. And soon you will see girdle and bra advertisements on television. My, how times change.

Cardinals Just Win And Win And Win...

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
New York Mets, settling ever deeper into the National League cellar, suffered a double defeat Friday night.

Not only were they beaten 3-0 by San Francisco Giants, the Mets also lost their own personal patsy and it might be a long time before they find one to replace him.

Giants' pitcher Ray Sadecki had somehow not managed to beat the Mets for more than three years before Friday's victory. He had been chased in each of his previous eight starts against them.

That situation was abruptly terminated when in 8-13 innings he gave up just six hits before getting some last-minute help from Frank Linzy. It was the left-hander's first victory in nearly a month and dropped the Mets 23½ games off the pace.

In other National League games, St. Louis Cardinals shut out Cincinnati Reds 5-0, Philadelphia Phillies crushed Houston Astros 7-1, Atlanta Braves beat Chicago Cubs 6-3 and Pittsburgh Pirates edged Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2 in 10 innings.

Sadecki broke his jinx against the Mets by slowing down on the mound.

Jim Merritt Survived And Won

Associated Press Sports Writer
Jim Merritt survived early inning jitters Friday against Boston but hung on to lead Minnesota Twins' 3-0 victory over the Red Sox.

The left-hander struggled through the early innings, then took control, allowing only one base runner in the last five innings and picked up his eighth victory and third shutout of the season.

The defeat dropped the second place Sox 2½ games back of Chicago White Sox who were rained out at Baltimore. In other American League action Kansas City Athletics shamed New York Yankees 2-1, Cleveland Indians battered Detroit Tigers 11-5 and California Angels squeezed past Washington Senators 5-4.

Merritt threaded his way out each time he got into jam and lowered his earned run average to 2.06 — best among American League starters.

Two of the Twins' three runs were unearned as Boston's infield committed three errors.

ROBS YANKEES
Danny Cater made a circus catch with the bases loaded and two out in the eighth inning, preserving Kansas City's victory over New York.

Two singles and a walk loaded the bases, and Bill Robinson tagged a shot deep to left field. But Cater raced back, leaped against the wall and grabbed the ball.

JIM MERRITT... top twirler

Consecutive sacrifice flies by Cater and Ken Harrelson produced both Athletic runs in the third inning.

Duke Sims drove in five runs — three on a home run — as Cleveland battered Detroit.

California reliever Minnie Rojas choked off a late Washington rally and held the Senators at bay for his 17th save of the season.

Ken McMullen slammed a pair of homers and drove in all four runs for the Senators.

Woodie Held's bases-loaded double delivered three runs for the Angels.

Mounties Clobber Portland But Cubs Continue To Slide

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Vancouver Mounties put together a pair of four-run innings to down the Portland Beavers 10-4 Friday and take first place in the Pacific Coast League's western division.

The Tacoma Cubs, who held the lead Wednesday, slid into a two-way tie for second Friday after bowing to Tulsa 7-1.

Spokane beat Seattle 3-2 to share second place with the Cubs.

In other PCL action, Hawaii split a doubleheader with Indianapolis 5-2 and 3-2 and Phoenix edged San Diego 2-1. Denver's scheduled game at Oklahoma City was postponed because of rain.

A double by Larry Elliot and a triple by George Reimer sparked a four-run third inning for Vancouver in Portland. The Mounties put four more men across home plate in the seventh on four singles and three walks.

Portland's runs were fairly evenly spread through the game, with Ray Fosse highlighting the hitting in the second inning with a solo homer.

Tulsa blasted loose with a five-run third inning and coasted to an easy victory over Tacoma. Veteran Tulsa southpaw Nick Willhite had a one-hit shutout through eight innings.

The Spokane Indians, down 1-0 after the first inning, blazed back with two runs in the third and four more in the sixth to sail to victory over Seattle. Solo homers by Jay Johnstone and Chuck Vinson accounted for Seattle's runs.

A two-run homer by Bob Chance and a one-run double by Jim French in the third inning of the opener at Indianapolis gave the Hawaii Islanders their first victory in five games. However, the Indians captured the second game after taking advantage of two errors by French in the sixth. Two runners scored as catcher French first bobbled Willie Kirkland's throw from the outfield, then threw the ball past third base.

San Diego last the game and the use of first basemen Jim Gentile. Gentile pulled a muscle while making a long stretch in the bottom of the fifth, and it was not immediately known when the powerful Padre batter would be back in action.

PETE MANNING, EAGLE DAY

Now Unemployed

"I usually get out there and work too fast," he said. "It's a big problem of mine. But catcher Tom Haller comes out and talks to me and won't give me that ball, so I have to slow down."

Sadecki struck out nine batters, drove in one run with a single and moved a runner to third with another. Jim Hart hit his 25th homer.

St. Louis moved seven games ahead of Chicago in the National League race, with Larry Jaster yielding Cincinnati just four hits. The Cards scored all their runs in the sixth inning. Lou Brock doubling in two of them.

Dick Ellsworth stopped the Astros on seven hits, completing his first game since April as the Phillies struck for 16 hits. Don Lock hit a three-run homer, and Johnny Briggs had four hits. Rich Allen drove in two runs and had three hits.

Denis Menke had four hits and Joe Torre three as the Braves presented the Cubs with their sixth defeat in their last seven games. Pat Jarvis, 12-4, was the winning pitcher.

Jim Lefebvre's wild throw allowed Gene Alley to come in with Pittsburgh's winning run.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Several prominent names joined the ranks of the unemployed Friday as Canadian Football League clubs moved to cut squads to meet league limits.

Toronto Argonauts and Montreal Alouettes of the Eastern Conference chopped a total of 23 players. All CFL clubs were forced to reduce to 32 players—14 imports and 18 homebrews—by 11 p.m. EDT Friday.

Perhaps the best-known cut was quarterback Eagle Day, a standout in earlier tours with Winnipeg Blue Bombers and he was cut by Argos Friday when Coach Leo Cahill also dropped 12 others. Montreal cut five imports and five Canadians.

Day, criticized by some for his failure to salvage broken plays by running out of the pass-pocket, was overshadowed throughout training camp by Wally Gabler, several years younger than Day, 34.

Dropped by Toronto were line-backer Gene Donaldson, line-men Dave Still and John Erickson, defensive back flanker Pett Manning, halfbacks Monk Bailey and Johnny Counts—all of whom played for the Argos last season.

Rookies released were Bill Seman, Bob Rochter, Allen Ray

Aldridge and Ray Scott, defensive linemen; import half-back Bill Fletcher and veteran Canadian line man Don Paquette.

Another import back, Charlie Scales, was traded to Montreal for a player to be named later.

The Argos placed quarterback Henry Shichtle on the 30-day injured list and halfback Jim Dillard on the suspended list temporarily.

Imports dropped by Montreal Coach O. K. Dalton included two backs — Willie Ross and Cornell Champion — acquired recently from Western clubs. Ross came from Calgary Stampeder and Champion from Edmonton Eskimos.

They were joined by flanker Bobby Johnson, line-backer Loren Buser and quarterback dropped were flanker Gerry Stenberg, punter Gino Beretta, center Stan Smith, quarterback Bob Amer and defensive back Ken Danchuk and Manley Sarnowski.

SURPRISE MOVE
Another once-prominent player, Gerry McDougall, was a surprising cut by Edmonton coach Neil Armstrong, who said McDougall was not fast enough to play flanker.

Gus Kaspis, a standout defensive tackle for the Eskimos last season also was released amid reports that he had clashed with general manager Norm Kimball over threats to play out his option.

A young Canadian guard Larry Bird, was cut Friday and one cut was still needed to keep the Edmonton roster of Canadians at 18.

Saskatchewan, defending Grey Cup champions, escaped the last-minute rush by releasing import tackle George Gaiser and three Canadians—guard Barry Aldag, end Lance Fletcher and quarterback Ralph Schoenfield.

Two trades enabled Ottawa Rough Riders, defending Eastern Conference champs, to reach the limit. Offensive end Ted Watkins went to Hamilton Tiger-Cats and halfback Dillard was sent to the Argos.

In exchange, Ottawa received future draft choices.

If a Hamilton released imports Gus Gonzales, a guard, and Marshall Starks, a defensive back, 12 Canadians—including veterans Grant McKee and Steve Hmiel, both defensive backs.

In all, Hamilton coach Ralph Sazio releases 23 players.

He dropped import backs Ammon McWashington, Sam Burke, Steve Jones, John Ginter and Doug Goodwin, guards Joe Frantangelo, Mitch Dudek and Bob Sign, tackle Dick Corcoran and end Gary Quattrin.

Calgary moved to the cut-down deadline gradually. Recent cuts included flanker Frank Budd, once holder of world's records for 100 yards and 200 metres. Defensive back Ben Lavery, line-backer Wayne Conrad, guard Grant Wilson and flanker Pete Wilson also were released.

British Columbia Lions met the deadline earlier this week.

The biggest upset of the day came when New Zealand's Natalie White defeated Marlene Stewart Strait of Canada 2-up. Mrs. Strait is a former Canadian, U.S. and Australian opens titleholder.

Heather Booth nipped Helen Gagnon 2 and 1 for New Zealand's other victory over Canada.

Miss White, 1966 New Zealand foursomes champion, was 3 up on Mrs. Strait but lost the 15th hole. The two halved the next hole before Miss White won the 18th to avert a tie.

Britain picked up 2½ points Friday to remain solidly in contention.

British Open champion Elizabeth Chadwick and Australia's Maria Hickey tied their match. Britain picked up two wins when Dinah Oxley defeated Australia's Carol Blair 3 and 2 and Bridget Jackson finished 1 up over Dianna Thomas.

Australia's Barbara Coulson registered a point by defeating Britain's Vivien Saunders 5 and 4.

Points, awarded on finishing order, are kept separately for the trophy dashes.

In the modified competition, steady Gary Hutcheon leads with 98 points, while Art Sheeler and Hickson are tied with 68 points each.

Kilsch has become the first driver to get more than 100 points, as he leads the early-late regular race parade with 101 points. Vaughan Coggan is right behind with 99 and Ab Funk has 85.

In the modified mechanics' section Ken Materl continues to lead in the Hutcheon car, with 24 points, while Roy Costa, in the Al Borrett car has 19 points and Ted Roth is right behind with 18 points. In brother Neil's car.

The Kilsch car runs well for Tom Borlase too, as he leads the early-late mechanics' competition with 48 points, 18 more than Bill Spalek in the Coggan car, while Don Fenwick in the Funk car is third with 29 points.

Racing resumes at 1 p.m. sharp Sunday, with time trials at 11 a.m.

Eight regular races, featuring 130 laps, plus a least one special race are on the card.

Outdoor Patio Problems Can Be Solved Like This

If you're faced with a bare patio and want to transform it into an outdoor area perfect for summer living, start by looking indoors for the answer. Select what you need from inside the house, purchase a few "extras" and blend them smartly together.

First of all you'll need something to sit on to survey the problem in comfortable leisure. If you have extra sling chairs around the house, bring them outdoors for summer duty. Their canvas slings are comfortable and inexpensive, and the frames are lightweight yet sturdy.

IRON WORKS OUT

Need more seating? Then try some of the handsome wrought iron or wicker furniture. Smart and comfortable, the textures add a summery, garden touch. Make sure they're upholstered in water-repellent fabrics over latex foam rubber. Foam rubber is as comfortable as can be, as well as durable and mildew-proof. Additional seating, with an informal touch, can be supplied with vinyl-covered big, throw pillows.

For the creation of a really relaxing air for your "outdoor living room," there's nothing to compare with the beauty of living plants.

Any of your clay-potted house plants can spend the summer outdoors, except those varieties that do not take kindly to direct sunlight. One way to use them around the patio is by "plunging." This involves digging a hole and placing plants and pots into the ground with just the rims showing. The plants will get the necessary interchange of moisture and air through the porous walls of their clay containers.

It's best to keep these plants out of the wind, and to see that those that thrive on light, get sunshine. Plants may also be placed directly on the patio, and look particularly well when

HOME HINTS

RADIATOR CABINETS

QUESTION: Where can I get radiator cabinets for my old-style hall radiators? They are quite high and stand on legs.

ANSWER: Many home furnishings stores, interior decorating places, some lumber yards carry these. Unless your radiators are so outside, you can probably get a perfectly good fit, without having to have them made individually. The difference in price is such that it will pay you to shop around thoroughly.

"finished" with matching clay saucers. The soft earthy clay tones go nicely with the summery look of casual furniture.

FLORAL ACCOMPANIMENTS

Supplement your indoor house plants with inexpensive flowering ones to live up the outdoor area with color. Begonias come in a variety of bright colors and do well in partial shade. The same holds true for the colorful fuchsia. Popular, easy-to-care-for geraniums thrive in the sun, as do petunias and marigolds.

Naturally all of these ideas are but guidelines, since patios vary with people, from the very elaborate to the starkly simple. But whatever the type, you can make your patio a delightful summer retreat with a little effort and imagination.

LET BARGAINING BEGIN

OTTAWA (CP) — Certification of the Public Service Alliance of Canada as the bargaining agent for 2,950 workers in federal government heating, power and stationary plants was announced Wednesday. The public service staff relations board, which is hearing certification bids for the introduction of collective bargaining by federal civil servants, rejected an intervention filed by the Confederation of National Trade Unions.

AIDS TO AILING HOMES

UNSEALED WOOD

QUESTION: We want to change the erstwhile white-enamelled woodwork to natural. So we used paint remover. Even after several thorough treatments, which included working in the remover with steel wool, we realized that the wood had never been sealed with shellac. We just can't get out any more remains of white paint. So the effect is heavily flecked with white. Do you think oak stain would cover this up?

ANSWER: You've nothing to lose by trying on a small test area. Personally, I think it will tone down the white specks enough so you'll get the effect you want.

TILE OVER TILE

QUESTION: Is it possible to put new floor tile or inlaid linoleum over a previously tiled floor. The old tiles have never been waxed, are still sound and solid; it's just the color we don't like any more. This is a very small kitchen floor, used only by two adults.

ANSWER: In spite of the very plausible "don'ts" of tile manufacturers, this is a calculated risk well worth taking. Lots of others before you have, with no trouble at all. Two requirements, the old floor must be clean, free of wax and grease, and be adhering solidly all over.

VAPOR BARRIER NEEDED

QUESTION: Instead of paying another $1,000 for repainting my house (latest estimate) I'm thinking of spending that much toward aluminum siding. I'm sure it will last longer, and if I hear correctly, there'll be no maintenance problems. One question: While my walls were insulated, there was never a vapor barrier put in. Must I have this done before the aluminum siding?

ANSWER: Not in my opinion. After all, the aluminum itself is as good a vapor barrier as you would want. I realize a vapor barrier should be located between the insulation and the inside walls. But I suggest your first seeing how you make out just with the siding. Another vapor barrier could go in later, if you need it. The new siding won't affect the installation one way or the other.

REMOVING TILES

QUESTION: My bathroom is covered two-thirds of the way up with plastic tile. I would like to replace with ceramic tiles. Is this removal a job I can do myself?

ANSWER: Judge for yourself. First try soaking along one edge, on the chance the adhesive is water-soluble. If it yields, work the edge of a wide putty knife underneath and start prying. From then on it's a combination of prying and pulling, usually not too difficult. With a waterproof adhesive, you'll have the harder job of getting the putty knife underneath.

THE BRIDGE THAT HAS WAITED 438 YEARS FOR ITS RAILING

THE BRIDGE OF TICHENDORF, SPANNING THE WHITE LAKE IN AUSTRIA, WAS NOT COMPLETED IN 1529 BECAUSE OF A TURKISH INVASION, AND THEN WAS LEFT UNFINISHED IN THE BELIEF THE WOODEN STRUCTURE WOULD BE REPLACED BY A MORE PERMANENT BRIDGE. IT HAS NO RAILING AND IS USED NIGHT AND DAY—YET IT HAS NOT HAD A SINGLE ACCIDENT IN 438 YEARS.

The bidding:
East South West North
Pass 1♦ 1♠ 6♦

Opening lead—two of hearts. You don't look a gift horse in the mouth. When the opponents give you a chance to make a contract you're not really entitled to make; you try to take advantage of it.

North was obviously not a product of the scientific school of bidding. There is no doubt that he had good support for diamonds, but the leap to six was clearly an exaggeration of his values.

He could have consulted South about a slam by jumping in clubs and supporting diamonds later, and this sequence would have done full justice to his hand.

However, the leap to six turned out well when West reflected a heart for his opening lead. Had he led any other suit, South would have gone down.

South had a critical problem to solve on the opening lead, the queen and made the slam, play the ten or queen. He chose the queen and made the slam, losing only a spade trick, and the reasoning behind the queen play is worthy of study.

First, it should be noted that it is immaterial which card is played from dummy if either defender holds the K-J. Thus, if West has both honors, either play is successful while if East has both honors, both plays fail.

Declarer's choice is important only when West has the king and East the jack, or when West has the jack and East the king. In the former case, only the queen play wins; in the latter case, only the ten play wins.

The only tangible clues to guide declarer to the proper play are the bidding and the opening lead.

South has a right to assume that West would have led a spade had he held the A-K of that suit. Declarer therefore concludes that West has only one of the high spade honors; so West is consequently much more likely to have the king of hearts for his overall. Accordingly, South plays the queen.

WHAT MAY I HAVE THE PLEASURE OF SHOWING YOU, SIR?

SOMETHING SUBSTANTIAL IN YOUR BETTER LINE

HOW ABOUT A NICE OPEN-TOED SANDAL TO GO WITH YOUR SOCK?

MY WORD!

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Imagination and resourcefulness should be at a peak on Sunday, so it would be a good time to figure out complex situations, even though you take no action until Monday. A short trip taken in the afternoon could prove highly enjoyable.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that while the period between now and December 20th will not be particularly stimulating for either job or money matters. You should advance on all intervening time by making plans for the future and putting forth your best efforts. Even though the latter may seem unproductive at the moment, do not become discouraged. Keep plugging, for, in that way, you will win even more benefits during a fine planetary cycle which will begin on December 21st and last through February 15th. You should advance on all fronts then. Look for further upturns in monetary affairs next June, July and August; in career interests during the latter half of April, in mid-May, June and July.

Personal affairs will be governed by friendly stars for most of the year ahead except for brief periods in early March and/or early June, when your innate tendency to be impatient and over-exacting with others could cause friction in close circles. Most auspicious periods for romance: September, the last ten days of December (good on all counts), April and the weeks between late May and early September, of 1968. A child born on this day will be extremely trustworthy, versatile in his talents and endowed with a fine sense of humor.

THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW
Planetary influences on Monday will be generally favorable but, in all endeavors, be extremely careful about details. You may have to make some revisions in plans made yesterday, but they should prove to be for the better.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If Monday is your birthday, your chart indicates some faults which you will have to curb in the coming year—notably your tendency to be overly critical of others and your insistence on having your own way. These traits could cause annoyance on the part of superiors, co-workers, partners and friends, and the cooperation and good will of all will be needed if you are to make the progress possible within the several fine cycles promised in your chart. will of all will be needed if you are to make the progress possible within the several fine cycles promised in your chart. Best periods for monetary interests: Between December 21st and February 15th, June, July and August (particularly the first half); for job or professional advancement: January, February, the latter half of April, mid-May, June and July. Do be conservative on all fronts during the next four months, however.

Travel could broaden your horizons considerably and bring some interesting new contacts in February of next year; also during the weeks between late May and September 10th. Most propitious periods for romance: September, the latter half of December, April and May. Creative workers should do very well during the first six months of 1968, with March an outstanding month.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a flair for the dramatic; could excel, spectacularly, as a trial lawyer or thespian.

Baby Survives Minutes 'Dead'

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—An 18-months-old baby remains in critical condition today after being “technically dead” on admission to St. Joseph's Hospital here.

A doctor said the child, hurled into the Thames River Thursday when a bridge collapsed and trapped under water for from three to five minutes, had no heart beat, no noticeable pulse and no spontaneous respiration on admission to hospital.

Massage started the heart beating again, he said.

The child, Rosemary Graham, was being pushed across a flimsy floating bridge in a park by her aunt, Edith Price, 14, when the bridge collapsed, throwing her and a dozen other children into the water.

Rosemary, trapped underwater by her stroller which had jammed under the bridge, could not be reached for several minutes.

Water For Subdivision Discussed At Peachland

PEACHLAND — A special meeting was held Wednesday to discuss domestic water for subdivisions in Trepanier. Attending at council's invitation were F. Slee, an interior engineer of Kelowna, who completed a study on this problem for the municipality last fall. Also present were R. C. Seed of Penticton owner of a subdivision in Trepanier, Doug Shaw of Vancouver and L. B. Shaw of Trepanier representing Marbo Holdings property in Trepanier.

Mr. Slee outlined the ideal solution for Domestic Water distribution in Trepanier though both council and interested parties felt that the cost of this plan would be too much to be born by just the few parties who are at present interested in subdividing their property.

Various suggestions for putting domestic water on Lot 12 and 14 Marbo Holdings property were put forward. Mr. Slee, advising council on the feasibility of the suggestions. After much discussion council decided to agree to Doug Shaw's offer that Marbo Holdings will be permitted to install a water system from the present main line to lots 12 and 14. This system to be laid out as plans submitted by district engineering services Kelowna outlined in a letter to council on June 13. After completion this system will be turned over to the municipality.

Legion Hears Of Successes

PEACHLAND—Members of the Legion Joint carnival committee met Monday in the Peachland Lion Hall. Reports were given on both the carnival and dance held July 14 at the Athletic Hall. This was "a great success" both socially and financially. It was decided to use this year's profits to pay the municipal taxes, and keep the balance for future improvements to the hall.

It was suggested as the costume dance had been so successful, that the branch arrange another of the same for August. Bill Ried's Orchestra of Summerland and costume attire will be optional. Next regular meetings of both Branch 69 and the L.A. to be held on the regular dates in September.

Fall Fair Plans Made

PEACHLAND — Arrangements were made for judges at a meeting of the Peachland Fall Fair Committee held this week in the Recreation Hall. A. Topham, chairman of the fruit section, reported judges for his section had been contacted, as he had been instructed. Mary Smith art and ceramic section, made suggestions as to judges to be approached on these sections. Secretary Mrs. E. Sutherland was instructed to contact these and last year's judges, with invitations to again participate.

Serving of tea both afternoon and evening was next discussed. It was decided to include refreshments in admission price same as last year.

Mrs. J. Hunter reported that Ricky Oakes had consented to entertain with his accordion, and two more acts had been approached but have not given a definite answer.

All members of the committee will wear centennial costumes at this year's fair and Peachland's centennial queen Helga and Princess Lorraine, will be asked to participate. If these centennial royalty cannot attend the fall fair queen candidate, Louise MacNeill, will be asked to preside. Decorations for the fair will follow a centennial and fall theme. Next meeting of this committee was set for Aug. 15 at 8 p.m. in the recreation hall.

Recruits Flock To Services

HALIFAX (CP) — Gen. J. V. Allard, chief of defence staff, says Canada's armed forces are getting more recruits than they can handle.

He told reporters Thursday on his arrival at nearby Shearwater Canadian Forces Base, to participate in a two-day symposium for members of the defence staff.

"We are getting more recruits than we can take. Under this program we have a high standard of qualifications and we are keeping all those who meet the standard."

Gen. Allard and Air Marshal F. R. Sharp, vice chief of defence staff, were both wearing the new green integrated forces uniform—the first of 400 sample issues to be distributed to selected defence personnel across Canada next week.

Gen. Allard said reaction to the new uniform has been "very favorable."
